ORCHID

Did you know that orchids are one of the oldest family of flowering plants. Orchid varieties have been found all over the world. This leads experts to believe they have been around since before the continents separated!

Orchids are the largest family of flowering plants. With more than 25,000 species, there are more orchids on the planet than mammals and birds!

A new species of orchid with flowers measuring just over 2mm across has been discovered in Cerro Candelaria Reserve, Ecuador. The largest weighs several hundred pounds and some specimens measuring up to 25 ft.

Mature Orchids grow upside down. The blooms are so heavy that the plants end up growing upside down.

Orchids are a favourite of all Barbadians, used on display in homes and gardens and also a popular wedding decor flower. The delicate, exotic and graceful orchid represents love, luxury, beauty and strength. In ancient Greece, orchids were associated with virility. In fact, Greek women believed that if the father of their unborn child ate large, new orchid tubers, the baby would be a boy.

HIBISCUS

The species name means rose of China, but experts believe that hibiscus more likely originates from India. An early hibiscus researcher, Ross Gast, sailed the world looking for the plant's true origin. He believed that people from India spread hibiscus south and into the Pacific Islands.

Hibiscus plants provide important ecological, aesthetic, culinary, and medicinal values. Many species are grown for their showy flowers or used as landscape shrubs, and are used to attract butterflies, bees, and hummingbirds.

A tea made from hibiscus flowers is known by many names around the world and is served both hot and cold. The beverage is known for its red colour and tart flavour. It is rich in vitamin C, minerals, and antioxidants.

The health benefits of hibiscus tea include its ability to treat high blood pressure and high cholesterol, help in the treatment of hypertension and anxiety, help fight bacteria, disturbed digestive and immune system, inflammatory problems and liver diseases, as well as cancer. It can also speed up the metabolism and help in healthy, gradual weight loss.

A wide variety of hibiscus plants bloom year round on the island. They are symbols of happiness, good luck, love & passion.

FRANGIPANI

Known more widely as a Plumeria, the Frangipani has a delicate, almost citrus like scent.

The flowers are most fragrant at night; they use their scent to attract moths for pollination.

Modern florists often recommend the Plumeria as a gift for someone who has endured many challenges because this plant must be heated over 500 degrees F to catch alight and start burning. Aside from a natural toughness, the delicate look of the flower makes it a symbol of grace, wealth, and perfection across Asia.

Some cultures attribute a link between the flower and ghosts or other supernatural entities.

Meanwhile in Hawaii... when a plumeria flower is worn by a woman in the hair over the right ear, it means that she is single and looking; worn on the left side, she is taken.

SNOW ON THE MOUNTAIN

Though no snow falls in the Caribbean, our version of “snow on the mountain” is a beautiful plant weed, which is used mostly as ground cover as it has a lush full appearance adorned with beautiful white and green leaves and small white flowers that blossom at the tips. Amongst all the typical bright sunny colours of tropical plants, this plant is more simple in it's colour palette yet strikingly charming.

Also known as Goutweed or Bishop's Weed, it can spread quite fast and needs little care or attention. It grows where most plants are doomed to fail and is not an invasive plant, so it is easy and manageable, which also makes it a favourite choice of property owners and can be seen in the form of hedges or as stand alone plants in many Barbadian properties.

DESERT ROSE

The Desert Rose (Adenium Obesum) originates from Eastern Africa to Southern Arabia and is loved by many for its bright flowers and unique swollen stem. The Chinese named this plant the "Flower of Wealth", believing it brings good fortune and the caudex (swollen stem base) represents fertility. A succulent plant with pink, tubular flowers and a swollen, woody stem containing toxic, milky sap that is sometimes used for arrow poison.

It has a long life span of up to 500 years old! To identify the age of a desert rose, measure the diameter of the stem. This is a slow-growing plant, and every millimeter represents one year. It is a seasonal succulent that sheds leaves when not in season. The plant, interestingly, gets enough nutrients even when other plants start dying due to unbearable weather conditions.

WATER LILY

Lily flower meanings include beauty, purity, fertility, transformation, rebirth, and devotion. It is also July's birth flower.

As water lilies live and die in water, they have connections to spirituality, renewal, life energy, and rebirth. They also embody the cycle of life, where they open during the day and close at night.

The water lily is a star in the art world. Impressionist Claude Monet was well renowned for painting this aquatic plant (almost 250 of his paintings featured water lilies! It has become a modern day symbol that depicts peace and is seen often in spa and holistic culture around the world.

POINSETTIA

Widely known as December's birth flower, the Poinsettia is native to Mexico. The ancient Aztecs used poinsettias to make red dye, and they turned to poinsettia sap to control fevers.

Poinsettias aren't always red. The plant is grown in more than 100 varieties including shades of white, cream, pink, purple, orange and yellow. There are also marble and bi-color varieties.

Since these winter plants are often red and green, they fit right in with the holiday hues. Poinsettias also mean joy, cheer, and success, regardless of their color. As a shrub, it can grow as large as 15ft tall. The showy, colourful part of the poinsettia isn't a flower - it's a modified leaf.

Poinsettias are America's No. 1 selling potted plant, contributing a whopping $250 million to their economy annually - even though the market for them is only about six weeks long.
